To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing this letter on behalf of Dr. Jerry Weichman and his amazing speaking abilities. He recently came to speak at our health and psychology classes. His presentation on "life tools" was so real to the kids. They listened to his every word and learned from his life experiences. His dynamic personality, kid-speak style, and valuable information made his presentation unique and effective. Due to his likeable, approachable personality, some of our students contacted Dr. Weichman privately after the presentation so they could get emotional support from him. We look forward to having him return in fall 2004 to reach a larger audience. Every student at our school can benefit from his presentation.

I have also referred several students and families to see Dr. Weichman through his private practice. I have only heard positive comments from those referred.

It is a pleasure and honor to recommend Dr. Weichman as both an effective, powerful speaker and an excellent counselor. I hope you have the chance to experience this dynamic professional and what he can offer to our future generations.

Thank you.
